

What components of the experiment are clearer now than they were as a participant? What questions do you still have for the experimenter?

